it is not in the art of war that we take our greatest pride. Our pride is in the arts of peace, in material and intellectual develop-

United States Working on a Plan to Open Every Chinese City to Foreign Commerce

LONDON, May 6 .- A representative of the Associated Press was officially informed today that the statement of the Shanghai correspondent of the London Times that China has approached the powers, suggesting a complete opening of Manchuria to the enterprise of all countries and that replies have been received from Japan, the United States and Great Britain is incorrect. China has not approached the powers in regard was said frequently during the discussion, to a general opening of Manchuria. What might prove ruinous to the coal industry | actually occurred was that a high Chinese official threw out such a suggestion, and after some slight diplomatic mention the matter ended there. It is realized in Downing street that any step toward securing the opening up of Manchuria would be construed at St. Petersburg as direct opposition to Russia's desires. The British Foreign Office has not the slightest intention of embarking upon such a fruitless task as the one indicated by the Times's corre spondent and believes the United States and Japan fully concur with that view. It is now feared that in spite of the protest of the United States and Great Britain the Chinese maritime customs will be raised considerably above the 5 per cent.

United States Trying to Accomplish Much for Commerce.

WASHINGTON, May 6.-Inquiry here confirms the report that the United States is working and finds support in its effort toward the opening of all China, including the provinces, to the trade of the world. This does not mean the abolition of customs duties, but would make every Chinese city a mart for the world's goods instead of limiting foreign commerce to the few existing treaty ports. The project is one that appeals temptingly to the commercial interests of others of the great powers than the United States, and if it should comhope is entertained that it will indirectly aid in the settlement of the troubles over the indemnity question.
